Investment Approach

This non-benchmarked multi-asset, multi-strategy portfolio invests freely in a variety of asset classes in order to achieve the defined investment objective.

Investment selection is not restricted to a given set of funds. Marketing authorization for Germany is required for a fund to be included in the portfolio, however. Portfolio management is rule-based, non-benchmarked, and dynamic. Risk parameters are monitored on a recurring basis to minimize volatility and ensure acceptable investment returns during all market phases.

Volatility and maximum drawdown are the key risk parameters used to manage the portfolio. Furthermore, funds from different strategy classes are judiciously combined in order to minimize positive correlations between investments in the portfolio.

Investment Horizon

The portfolio is primarily designed for risk averse investors with an investment horizon of at least five years.

Investment Objective

The goal of the portfolio is to generate a return that is at least equal to the rate of inflation. This should be realized with the lowest possible volatility and through active management of the risk parameters.
